

ULTIMATUM IS NEXT PLANNED

Japs Will Ask Russia to Evacuate and Surrender When Port Arthur Is Captured.

HEAVY FIGHTING STILL CONTINUES

Naval and Land Forces Are Given No Rest—Closing on Port Arthur—The Czar's Army Retreating.

[Special by Scripps-Mellie.]
Rome, June 30.—A message from the Japanese government states that the Japanese have now encamped eight miles from Port Arthur and the rival forces are visible to each other. Two Russian officers while trying to cross the Japanese lines were captured. The artillery of the opposing forces are today vigorously exchanging shots.

Attack Town
Tokyo, June 30.—A telegram from General San, Korea states the Russian Vladivostok squadron appeared off that place and began an attack on that town this morning.

Still Advancing
Liao Yang, June 30.—General Kuroki, having forced Mollen Ling pass is advancing toward this place. Should he reach here he will have cut off the retreat of Kuropatkin, who is at Pal Ching.

Officially Announced
Tokyo, June 30.—It is officially announced that thirteen Russian vessels today bombarded Gen San, Korea, firing one hundred and fifty shells into the town.

Council Meets
Rome, June 30.—A telegram from Tokyo states a meeting of council ministers was held this morning at which the Milkofovo decided that after the fall of Port Arthur and the Russian evacuation of Liao Yang, Field Marshal Oyama should address a ultimatum to Kuropatkin asking him to surrender to avoid further bloodshed. It was decided to send a copy of the ultimatum to all powers. Should Kuropatkin refuse to surrender the Japanese anticipate little trouble in annihilating his forces.

Admit Defeat
St. Petersburg, June 30.—It is practically admitted that General Kuropatkin has been outgeneraled and outfought. The situation in the far east is regarded from a Russian standpoint as gloomy in the extreme, and there is a good deal of quiet talk about the possible recall of General Kuropatkin. The only trouble is in finding some general who can take command and do any better. Friends of Kuropatkin point out that the movement to the south, which has apparently resulted so disastrously, was made against his judgment and as a result of direct orders from St. Petersburg.

It is said at the war office that the retrograde movement is being made in good order and with very little loss, but the impression prevails that the full truth is not given to the public and that the position of the Russian army is more serious than the official will admit.

The sinking of the submarine Delphin and the ramming of the battleship Navarin by the ironclad harbor defense boat Netron Menia at Cronstadt have created a bad impression.

ate Reports
New Chwang, June 30.—General Kuropatkin is fighting for his life at Hal-Cheng and Liao-Yang. He has been driven from Liao-Yang peninsula and the Japanese now control the country from Tashchikiao south and are pushing on to Hal-Cheng from both east and south.

It is reported here that Samsonoff's division of 12,000 men has been cut off below Tashchikiao and will be forced to surrender. There has been hard fighting at Tashchikiao for the past two days and according to the stories of refugees, the Japanese took possession of the railroad at that point yesterday, the Russians returning on Hal-Cheng after having been subjected to heavy loss.

It is said that Kuropatkin will not make any determined resistance at Hal-Cheng, holding that place only long enough to permit of the removal of stores, munitions of war and guns to Liao-Yang or Mukden.

General Kuroki is threatening Liao-Yang from the northeast with a heavy force, and it is possible the Russian retreat will not stop until Teling, above Mukden, is reached.

A Japanese force is expected there from Tashchikiao at any moment. The Russians have withdrawn all their troops and all of the stores and war munitions which were at this place have been sent on to Mukden. There has been talk that the Chinese bandits would attack the city upon the withdrawal of the Russians, but they have not done so.

A number of Japanese transports conveyed by cruisers are reported to be a short distance south of Yui-Kow. When the Japanese land forces take possession of the city, it is believed, troops will be at once landed there and a general army base be established.

Japs in Control
Tokyo, June 30.—Kuropatkin has been defeated all along the line, the defenses of Port Arthur have been broken. Now Chwang is practically in the hands of the Japanese, and the power of Russia in Manchuria is so badly shattered that it cannot interfere with any plans the Japanese war council may see fit to carry out for the balance of the campaign.

There is the gist of the news which has been received here today. In detail it is reported that Tashchikiao has been taken. The Russians have been driven from St. Mu Ching and the Japanese are within cannon range of Hal-Cheng. In the north Kuroki's advanced parties are feeling the Russian fortifications at Liao-Yang and he has a strong force about Ping-Tai ready to move on Liao-Yang or Mukden as the exigencies of the campaign demand.

The Russian losses in the fighting which has been going on to the east of Tashchikiao and Hal-Cheng have been very heavy, the Japanese artillery having been particularly effective.

Kuropatkin is said to be at Hal-Cheng in person, and it is believed he will be compelled to give battle there against the combined Japanese armies. The news from Port Arthur is extremely encouraging. The line of forts just outside the main fortifications has been taken after hard fighting, and the Japanese guns now command the port, and in the opinion of military men will soon make it untenable. News of the capture of the fortress and the destruction of the Russian vessels there is momentarily expected.

Heavy Losses
St. Petersburg, June 30.—The losses in the fierce battle at Taling pass, northeast of Shuyen, which lasted the whole of June 26 and 27, were heavy, according to dispatches from Hal-Cheng yesterday. Eighty wounded Russians have reached Hal-Cheng, and on Sunday a hospital train carrying 200 passed through going to Liao-Yang.

German American Bank of Aurora Has Plenty of Money to Meet Depositors.
[Special by Scripps-Mellie.]
Aurora, Ill., June 30.—Despite the embarrassment of ninety thousand dollars by the cashier the doors of the German-American bank opened this morning. Several hundred depositors were in line and withdrew their deposits. Large deposits were made by wealthy people and plenty of money was in sight which avoided a run on the bank.

PROHIBS. ADOPT THEIR PLATFORM

Denounce Everything That Is Endorsed by Any Other Party, and Laud Prohibition.

[Special by Scripps-Mellie.]
Indianapolis, June 30.—The prohibition delegates are slow to assemble. Chairman Wolfenbarger called the convention to order at nine-fifty. Oliver Stewart offered the prayer. The platform was submitted by the resolutions committee. It denounces lack of statesmanship of the republican and democratic parties in refusing to recognize as paramount the importance of the liquor question. Six planks deal with the prohibition issue and denounce all methods of dealing in the liquor traffic which recognize the right to exist. The platform advocates the enforcement of laws against the combinations and organizations of capital and labor and the application of initiative and referendum as a resource to arbitration on all international disputes. It would reform divorce, extirpation of polygamy as the suppression of social evil. Pledges taken for the campaign fund netted eleven thousand dollars.

DENVER DOCTOR MURDERED TODAY
Dr. Eymour Jarecki, a Prominent Physician, Was Killed in His Home by Unknown Assassins.

[Special by Scripps-Mellie.]
Denver, June 30.—Dr. Eymour Jarecki, a prominent physician, was murdered in his home at this morning by an unknown person who called the physician to the door and fired through the screen. The police believed Jarecki incurred the ill-will of a certain man whose wife Jarecki had treated.

St. Louis, June 30.—Col. Ed. Butler, the millionaire defense boss, was indicted by the grand jury this morning charged with compounding felony and being accessory after fact to the bribery committed by Charles Kelly in 1899.

JOHN J. MITCHELL DIES SUDDENLY

Former United States Senator Passes Away Late Last Evening.

[Special to The Gazette.]
Milwaukee, June 30.—Former United States Senator John J. Mitchell died at his home, Meadowmere, in the town of Greenfield, last night. Senator Mitchell's death had been expected for several days, and he had been unconscious most of the time. He was taken ill last January with intestinal trouble.

Senator Mitchell leaves a large family. His eldest son, Captain William Mitchell, is in the regular army, stationed at Denver. The other children are David Ferguson Mitchell, a

The Epidemic at Mendota Has Not Yet Abated—Sewage Runs Into the Lake.

[Special to The Gazette.]
Madison, Wis., June 30.—Typhoid fever, epidemic at the Mendota state hospital for the insane, has not abated its ravages, according to all obtainable reports from the institution. The hospital room of the institution is overtaxed and other apartments have been requisitioned for the occupancy of the sick. Two deaths from the dread disease are known to have occurred Tuesday. It is now stated that the source of the infection has been traced to milk cows, given water from Lake Mendota to drink. The sewage from the hospital is exposed to view as it dumps into the lake.

Alderman J. C. Schubert, who owns a cottage near the institution and recently moved over there with his family, has returned to his city home because of fear of the contagion on the part of his family and himself.

The lake water has been examined and found to be foully contaminated with germs of disease and filth. A report of the institution is expected to be filed with the board of control soon and its contents are anxiously awaited.

BUNGLING BURGLARS IN A BARBER SHOP
Paul Cook's Place of Business on North Academy Street Was Entered Last Evening.

Some very crude burglarizing was done in Paul Cook's barber shop on North Academy street last night. Some time during the evening a pane of glass in the window near the door was cut out enabling the marauder to reach the lock with his hand. After entrance had been effected the bottoms of two of the drawers were removed after arduous work with a dull jack-knife and the thieves were rewarded with two razors for their pains. A curling iron was used as a wedge to open the receptacle and was badly bent in the operation. The theft was discovered at seven o'clock this morning and Officer Bencke was notified. He examined the premises and from the size of the footprints is convinced that the job was done by boys. No money was secured. The jack-knife with which the work was done was left in the shop.

GOES TO THE SENATE
When the democrats carried the state for the second time in 1892, Mr.

Mitchell was a candidate for United States senator and after a hard fight was elected to succeed Senator Philinus Sawyer. While in Washington Senator Mitchell was known as one of the hard, but quiet workers.

Since 1885, until a few months ago, Senator Mitchell was a member of the board of managers of the national homes and local manager of the Milwaukee home. Last spring he refused a reappointment on account of his health. Senator Mitchell was vice president of the Marine National bank, vice president of the Northern Insurance company and a trustee of the Layton Art gallery.

With five or six presidential candidates already in the field and several "dark horses" being diligently trained to be entered as "added starters" at the last moment, the prospects for a lively and spectacular contest are great. No one now expects the convention to be concluded in three days. It may run for a week. But while it lasts there will be ample opportunity for the enthusiasts to "pat-thrust" and for the leathery pugilist to shout himself hoarse in behalf of his country, his party and his candidate.

The setting for the big event has been well chosen and every preliminary has been arranged. The convention will be held in the great hall of the Coliseum which is situated in the heart of the city of St. Louis and is conveniently reached by several lines of street cars. The big hotels are within easy distance. The decorators have already taken the hall in hand and expect to have completed their work by Wednesday. C. W. Martin, the head of the Missouri Tent & Awning Co., of this city, who has the contract in charge, promises to make the hall a bower of beauty. If the profuse use of flags and green stuff can do that there is no doubt that he will fulfill his promise, for of them he has a plenty.

At Chicago the most prominent feature of the decorations was a large picture of the late Senator Hanna. Because of the pre-eminence part he had taken in the formulation of republican policies in recent years, that was appropriate enough. But at St. Louis the central figure will be a large picture of Thos. Jefferson. Republicans may say that that is another indication that the democratic party is living in the past. But to democrats—and this is to be a democratic convention—the contrast will have no other significance.

There will be no pictures of the only living democratic ex-president, Mr. Cleveland, nor of any of the candidates for the presidency or nomination in the hall. In this respect the decorations will be non-partisan.

The Hall
The hall itself is oval in shape and of substantial structure. Great steel girders support the roof, which is arched so as to afford the greatest acoustic properties. A tier of seats rising from the floor of the hall extends around each side and a gallery up nearer the roof increases the accommodations for visitors. There are seats provided for 10,000 persons in the hall. Three thousand of these are on the floor itself, still leaving ample aisle room.

In the arrangement of these seats a new idea has been carried into effect by Sergeant-at-Arms John I. Martin of St. Louis, who has officiated in a similar capacity in the last three democratic conventions, and who is the presiding genius in charge of every detail here. Col. Martin is making an effort to have this convention so perfectly arranged that it will be a model for all future assemblies of the kind, and he is quite liable to "make good."

The speakers' platform is in the center of the north side of the hall; one of the long curves of the oval, it is raised about five feet from the floor.

Back of the platform is a tier of seats for the members of the national committee and distinguished guests. A row of boxes extends all the way around the hall, like those in Madison Square garden, New York, at the horse show, and these, too, will be reserved for distinguished people.

PERFECT PLANS OF CONVENTION

Democrats Are Making Ready For Their Great Gathering at St. Louis.

ARRANGEMENTS ARE COMPLETED

Standards Will Be Nailed Down So That They Cannot Be Used To Create Enthusiasm Among the Delegates.

(By Henry E. Eland.)
St. Louis, June 30.—More than one orator at the recent republican national convention at Chicago felt called upon to apologize for the apparent lack of interest there. More than one explanation was made that it required a contest to create enthusiasm. There will be no need for any such apology or explanation when the representatives of the democratic party in the United States assemble in St. Louis next week for the purpose of naming their national candidates and preparing the platform upon which they will appeal to the country.

All indications are that the coming democratic convention will be one of the most interesting political gatherings of recent years. All the great leaders will be present. There will be nothing "cut and dried" about it. The delegates themselves will decide what they want to do. And it is because the delegates are yet uncertain as to their course; because there are so many possibilities in the situation; and because of the vast interests involved, that each day's session of the convention will present a scene of feverish excitement and wild acclamation which will make it memorable in history.

With five or six presidential candidates already in the field and several "dark horses" being diligently trained to be entered as "added starters" at the last moment, the prospects for a lively and spectacular contest are great. No one now expects the convention to be concluded in three days. It may run for a week. But while it lasts there will be ample opportunity for the enthusiasts to "pat-thrust" and for the leathery pugilist to shout himself hoarse in behalf of his country, his party and his candidate.

Well Arranged
The setting for the big event has been well chosen and every preliminary has been arranged. The convention will be held in the great hall of the Coliseum which is situated in the heart of the city of St. Louis and is conveniently reached by several lines of street cars. The big hotels are within easy distance. The decorators have already taken the hall in hand and expect to have completed their work by Wednesday. C. W. Martin, the head of the Missouri Tent & Awning Co., of this city, who has the contract in charge, promises to make the hall a bower of beauty. If the profuse use of flags and green stuff can do that there is no doubt that he will fulfill his promise, for of them he has a plenty.

At Chicago the most prominent feature of the decorations was a large picture of the late Senator Hanna. Because of the pre-eminence part he had taken in the formulation of republican policies in recent years, that was appropriate enough. But at St. Louis the central figure will be a large picture of Thos. Jefferson. Republicans may say that that is another indication that the democratic party is living in the past. But to democrats—and this is to be a democratic convention—the contrast will have no other significance.

There will be no pictures of the only living democratic ex-president, Mr. Cleveland, nor of any of the candidates for the presidency or nomination in the hall. In this respect the decorations will be non-partisan.

The hall itself is oval in shape and of substantial structure. Great steel girders support the roof, which is arched so as to afford the greatest acoustic properties. A tier of seats rising from the floor of the hall extends around each side and a gallery up nearer the roof increases the accommodations for visitors. There are seats provided for 10,000 persons in the hall. Three thousand of these are on the floor itself, still leaving ample aisle room.

In the arrangement of these seats a new idea has been carried into effect by Sergeant-at-Arms John I. Martin of St. Louis, who has officiated in a similar capacity in the last three democratic conventions, and who is the presiding genius in charge of every detail here. Col. Martin is making an effort to have this convention so perfectly arranged that it will be a model for all future assemblies of the kind, and he is quite liable to "make good."

The speakers' platform is in the center of the north side of the hall; one of the long curves of the oval, it is raised about five feet from the floor.

Back of the platform is a tier of seats for the members of the national committee and distinguished guests. A row of boxes extends all the way around the hall, like those in Madison Square garden, New York, at the horse show, and these, too, will be reserved for distinguished people.

The Press Seats

working newspapermen—those representing daily newspapers whose reports must be dashed off at once to the telegraph wire. These desks number 176 on each side. Just back of them are called-off sections containing 300 chairs on each side for the use of the representatives of the weekly papers and the magazines. Altogether there will be over 700 seats on the floor reserved for the press.

Straws in front of the correspondents and by the side of the platform lead down directly to the telegraph offices of the Western Union on one side and the Postal Telegraph Co. on the other, so that "copy" may be rushed to the wires without delay.

Back of the correspondents on each side—and here is where the new idea comes in—are the seats for the alternates. Therefore, in all national conventions the alternates have been stretched in long lines from end to end of the hall back of the delegates.

The Delegates
The delegates themselves, in a wide-pointed wedge formation, will occupy the exact center of the floor, stretching from directly in front of the speakers' platform to the rear of the hall. They will be seated in each side of a wide aisle leading straight to the platform, and there will be an aisle on each side of them, so that a delegate who is called to the platform to speak, or who desires to send a telegraph message, can do so without disturbing his colleagues.

The drawing of seats for the delegations, which is done by a "blind-folded" boy who draws the name of each state from a box previously well-shaken, will occur in a day or two in the office of the sergeant-at-arms. The first names out of the box get the front seats, and the lotteries frequently have peculiar results. Just how it will turn out this year will not be made known until the day before the convention when the standards, bearing the name of each state, will be placed in position.

These standards, by the way, will be fastened securely to the floor so that delegates in a moment of enthusiasm may not snatch them up and bear them in triumph around the hall. That is a favorite "stunt" of the delegate and frequently results in much confusion because of his inability to find the place from which he took the standard when he wants to replace it.

Poetoffice
At the east end of the hall a complete poetoffice is being fitted up with letter boxes for each delegate and alternates. This will be under the charge of Assistant Postmaster Henry P. Wyman, of St. Louis; Wm. M. Drumm, the efficient secretary to the sergeant-at-arms, and McDonald Martin, custodian. A corps of carriers will be in attendance to carry the mail to the delegates in their seats, thus making the mail delivery nearly as rapidly as telegraphy as it is possible to make it.

Eight or ten long-distance telephone boxes are ranged on the north side in close proximity to the stairs leading to the telegraph rooms. In the southeast corner of the building an emergency hospital has been located; fitted up with all the latest appliances. This has been established under the auspices of Dr. John H. Simon, president of the St. Louis board of health. Doctors, two trained nurses, an ambulance and attendants with stretchers will be in constant attendance.

An innovation is the appointment as officers of the convention of a number of "honorary medical officers." Each member of the national committee has in response to invitation named one of these officers from each state, and a finely engrossed and colored commission has been issued to them as well as to the doorkeepers, assistant sergeants-at-arms, special officers, ushers, etc.

Every attention has been given to words promoting the comfort of the delegates and others in the hall. Numerous electric fans have been placed at advantageous points to keep the air cool and incirculation. In the northeast corner has been placed a huge ice box to contain 20 tons of ice and a large quantity of the finest drinking water obtainable. A corps of young men, dressed in white duck, will carry lead water through the hall for the use of thirsty delegates and guests.

The Band Stand
A special band stand to accommodate 30 pieces has been erected above the gallery facing the speakers' stand. Telephone and electric bell connections between Sergeant-at-Arms Martin's desk and the leader of the band will enable the former to give the necessary directions as to what music is most appropriate at the moment.

There will be an efficient fire patrol under the direction of the chief of the city fire department, and a still alarm force armed with fire extinguishers.

OLD SOLDIER IN FAR OFF COUNTRY

FATHER JOSEPH OF THE HAWAIIAN LEPER COLONY.

LIVED IN JANESVILLE ONCE

Went to the War with the Famous Thirteenth Wisconsin — Became a Trappist Monk.

Chattanooga, Tenn., June 28, 1904.

City Editor Gazette, Janesville Wis.: I hand you a story ready for use, that will I am sure interest many Janesvillians, such men as "Sammy" Cobb, Philp Norcross, Frank Stevens, "Bill" and Ed. Ruger, and others, of the 13th, of which I was one, which will read with interest as to "Ira" Dutton, notable changer of heads.

Yours Fraternally,
C. W. BAKER.

I worked on the Gazette before you were born, but that is no fault of yours.

Maj. Clarence Baker, a veteran journalist in Chattanooga, Tenn., began his career in Janesville, carrying the first issue of the Free Press, the first republican paper printed here, on January 6, 1855, the day the first train of cars came in on the branch line from Milton.

Maj. Baker says he is always meeting men who have been Janesville boys. A few months ago he sent the Gazette a long clipping about Allen Strong and his experiences in the Boer war. Now he sends a story that will interest every veteran of the Thirteenth Wisconsin, as well as scores of old citizens. It seems that "Father Joseph," who succeeded Father Damien in charge of the leper colony in Hawaii, is none other than Ira B. Dutton, who was probably born and certainly raised in Janesville.

In 1861 young Dutton, then a clerk in Sutherland's bookstore, enlisted in the Thirteenth Wisconsin and was made quartermaster-sergeant. When the quartermaster, Platt Eyckelheimer, left the service, Dutton succeeded to the position, which he held while the regiment remained in the field.

According to the Minneapolis Commercial Appeal, Dutton was made a captain in the commissary department. For some time his headquarters was at Humboldt, Tenn., but later on he made Memphis his home and resided there for several years.

His professional duties were characterized with an uprightness and understanding amounting to sympathy in mitigating the horrors resulting from the war and had also the effect of placing him high in the esteem and friendship of all with whom he came in contact.

His attention was turned to the church, and he became greatly impressed with religious ideas. The whole man was transformed. He decided to quit his profession of arms and become a communicant of the Roman Catholic church. His enthusiasm was still that of the young Wisconsin volunteer and his belief amounted to almost mono-mania. He carried it with him at all times and talked of it freely to his friends.

Then he decided to forsake the world entirely. At Gethsemane, in Kentucky, is a Trappist monastery and to this he was admitted as a probationer. The period extends for one year, at the end of which time the applicant can either return to the worldly life or take the vows for evermore that make him a monk.

It was during this year that Father Damien, head of the leper colony in Hawaii and worshipped almost as a saint, died, after many years of great sacrifice and usefulness. Pope Leo called for a volunteer to take the father's place and assume the duties of a living death at Molokai.

Brother Joseph, as he was then known, was the man who volunteered, this time for a task far greater and nobler than when he put on the blue of the Federal uniform. He was chosen by the pope and after a short preparation set off for far off Hawaii where he has resided ever since.

On his way he stopped off and bade a long farewell to all his old friends and acquaintances. This was over twenty-two years ago.

By his voluntary act Dutton cut himself off in the prime of manhood from the world forever. At present he is over 60 years of age and enjoys good health. For years to come he will in all probability continue to administer to the sufferings of the world's most unfortunate beings, those affected with leprosy. The colony is a large one and before the American occupation was under the Hawaiian government.

Brother Joseph is most highly esteemed by the leaders of the islands and is a personal friend of former President Dole and of the present governor, Mr. Carter. He numbers many other prominent Hawaiians among his personal friends.

Pictures show Brother Joseph as he is today. His is a noble and fascinating face, a face full of experience, of struggle, of hot passions and of an indomitable will which has subdued them. The possibilities of such a countenance are limitless. Such a man might have been a conqueror himself; he might have been a dictator; he has chosen martyrdom. It is a grand face in its rugged outlines and thought furrowed lines. It suggests the face of Tolstol, with whose life there exists a certain similarity.

Ben Johnson of Beloit, Fails to Keep Appointment with Court—May Cost G. G. Mahlum $300.

Owing to the failure of Ben Johnson of Beloit to put in his appearance in court yesterday morning to answer to the charge of unlawfully breaking the scerlet fever quarantine imposed on him and his family, G. G. Mahlum, a farmer living west of Beloit, may be compelled to pay over $300 to the state. Mahlum happened to be in Janesville when Johnson was arrested and brought here early in the month and was prevailed upon to sign his bail bond. Yesterday District Attorney Jackson, Health Officer W. H. Wayne, Atty. S. W. Menzies and Judge Booth waited patiently for the defendant to appear, imagining when the appointed hour had arrived and passed that he was delayed by some unforeseen circumstance and would appear to apologize for the same within a few minutes at most. An hour passed with no sign from the alleged quarantine breaker. By his failure to appear the bond signed by Mr. Mahlum was forfeited. It is possible, however, that if the defendant is surrendered to the court within the next few days the state's attorney may accept the surrender and the sum will not have to be paid. Otherwise steps will have to be taken by means of a lawsuit to collect the money from the bondsman.

Officials were notified this morning that Johnson was seen on the streets of Beloit in an intoxicated condition yesterday, and this seems to explain his failure to appear in court. Mr. Mahlum will endeavor to have the case re-opened.

ONCE GREAT; NOW NEARLY FORGOTTEN

Famous Engine "099" Hauls a Milk Train on the New York Central.

"How have the mighty fallen?" The famous New York Central engine, "No. 999," the pride of the transportation exhibit at the world's fair in Chicago, the boast of locomotive builders as the finest specimen of their handwork, the admiration of millions, the joy of the Vanderbilt heart as at the head of the Empire State Express, it was a pioneer in record-breaking speed to the west—this embodiment of mechanical glory now hauls a milk train.

Snorting somewhat feebly from age and hard usage, with a less steady gait and showing in rust and creak the ravages time has wrought, "No. 999" now rambles along between Mesena and Ulica at seventeen miles an hour instead of its former seventy, with not one can in its wake, but whole train loads.

The engine was built primarily for display at the Columbian exposition, as a part of "the model train"—the finest expression of the advancement of the nineteenth century in facilities for travel. It aroused more interest than even the painted sleepers of the engine, which was attached and became familiar to the great crowds of sight-seers at the fair. Afterward "No. 999," when its show days were over and it was consigned to a field of usefulness, was given a position fitting its rank by being the first locomotive to pull the Empire State Express, one of the first experiments of railroad magnates in reducing the time from New York to Chicago to twenty-four hours or less.

From that time until this little has been heard of the machine. Now alas, it has reached the stage in degradation next to the junk heap.

NEW KINDERGARTEN TEACHERS CHOSEN

School Board Elects Three New Directors and Assistant Recommended by Committee.

The school board at a special meeting this week adopted the recommendations of the committee on teachers and elected the following for positions: Miss Grace Spoon, of Janesville, director of the Washington school kindergarten; Miss Winifred Bright, of Appleton, director of the Jefferson kindergarten; Miss Mary Catherine Jacobs, of Oberlin, director of the Webster school kindergarten; Miss Bethana Miller, of Janesville, assistant at the Adams school kindergarten. Dr. Buckmaster, who is chairman of the committee, says that a large number of applications were received, and it has been an arduous task to go over all the recommendations and select the best. There were one or two unexpected incidents brought about by friends of certain local aspirants, without the necessary qualifications, who sought to influence the committee and board by threats of political vengeance if their wishes were not acceded to. The board wishes to give the preference to home teachers, but only when their qualifications in training or experience are shown to be on a par with those of other applicants. They believe that the people's money should be expended to secure the best possible service.

All owners of private vehicles and automobiles, all secret societies and labor unions or anyone who will kindly consent to take part in the civic parade July 4th will confer a favor upon the committee of arrangements by reporting to C. C. Crippen at the American express office on or before Saturday, June 25th.

Signed, C. K. MILTIMORE.

BILLY" NUGENT IS KNOWN HERE

Well Known Traveling Man and Former Detective, Suffers Paralytic Stroke.

William Nugent, a Chicago traveling salesman well known in Janesville, suffered at paralytic stroke at La Crosse Tuesday, and he is thought to be in a serious condition. Nugent was in Janesville only a few days ago on his regular trip. He had been making this city for several years. Before taking to the road Nugent won considerable fame as a detective. Several years ago he was at the old Illinois house near Beloit tracing clues hoping to land some murderers believed to be in hiding there. In 1881 and 1885 when the roller-skate craze was on in Janesville Nugent appeared here giving exhibitions of fancy skating in the old rink.

ROCK RIVER HAS GONE DOWN SOME

Lack of Heavy Rains Keeps Has Kept the Water Supply at a Limited Stage.

The dearth of any rain during the past three weeks has told on the volume of water in Rock river and at present at this point it is very shallow, exhibiting mud flats and stony beaches usually covered with water. The drop in the river was very noticeable during the past few days and if no rain falls soon it may seriously impede the progress of the steamers up and down the river. There would be no serious difficulty in the immediate vicinity of the city but a number of small barges would probably cause trouble several miles up the river.

MIGHT SECURE A STATE INSTITUTE

Janesville Has a Chanco for a Large Gathering of Farmers Meet.

Janesville may have a farmers' institute next winter for the asking. All that is necessary for some farmer or public-spirited business man in the city or vicinity to send to Geo. McKerrrow, superintendent of institutes at Madison for a blank petition and letter of information. Any town in the state is entitled to an institute if it is in a farming community and has a good hall or other building in which to hold the sessions. The last institute to be held in this city was in the winter of 1900 and it was a most interesting gathering, though the attendance was not as large as it should have been. With the electric road to bring farmers from the north and south an institute here next winter should prove a successful venture. Farmers driving to the city from the east and west have better facilities for caring for their teams and in all respects Janesville is in better shape to take care of a farmers' institute than it was four years ago.

If some farmer or business man will take the matter up now with Superintendent McKerrrow an institute can undoubtedly be arranged for to be given in this city during the winter or spring of 1905.

COL. NONE SUCH AS HE REALLY IS A BRIEF SKETCH OF THE FAMOUS SHOWMAN'S LIFE.

A FEW UNIQUE EXPERIENCES

Enjoys a Joke—His Circus Will Be in the City on July 4th All Day—Parade in Afternoon.

(Copyright is wanted.)

The great and only None Such Brothers' circus has been in the city for some days past. Every small boy can tell you where the show grounds are and if they do not know ask the court house policeman. He won't know. Well, anyway, Col. None Such is seen on the streets every day and the ignorantes can be heard holding their weird and mystic rites in of K. P. hall each night. The cowboys, wild west showmen, lion-tamers, and other curious persons interested in the great production are also on the streets and if you fail to recognize them it is because they are dressed in their every-day clothes. Col. None Such has had a great history. To hear the gentleman tell his own story one would think he was older than Barnum and had helped Adam Forepaugh drive his first tent stake. However, he is a well-preserved, jovial old showman of the old style type so fast disappearing. At one time he was with the Burr Robbins show. Whether he sold peanuts or ate them he is not quite sure, but at least he saw the show many times. He also visited the great Barnum show, has seen Hall's London Circus several times, has visited the emporium of Buffalo Bill, has paid his admission to the Forepaugh-Sells circus and is now the head of his own aggregation of world wonders.

As He Is Today.

Col. None Such is fond of smoking a pipe. The picture represents him in the act of refusing to don a new with tile and discarding his old stager that he has owned since he entered the sawdust arena. Col. None Such is a joker. To look at his face one would not think so but he is full of practical jokes that not only amuse but instruct the persons he plays them on. The Colonel has dogs and steam launches of his own and it is his delight to get a party of friends to go up the river and then play tricks upon them. He even has told them that the croak of the bull frogs was the barking of the carp and so in earnest did he appear that several have believed him.

A Great Hunter.

He has chased the wily duck and cunning rabbit and has been pursued by the savage grizzly bear. The picture which accompanies this article shows the Colonel in his favorite attitude when bear hunting. His companion on this occasion when the picture was taken by our special artist was also a well-known Janesville man. But the Colonel is brave and when he sits in the corner grocery store he tells of his encounters with the inhabitants of the mountains and plains with as much sang froid as he does when he plays a joke or tries to Jacksonize some unsuspecting friend.

A Horseman.

The Colonel is also a horseman of renown. In the parade he will ride the great and untamable stallion that has thrown many men and who in the

HORSE SHOD AT COUNTY'S EXPENSE

Audacious Thief Was Bold Enough to Seek Assistance From Poor Commissioner Kenyon.

Audacity worthy of a better cause was possessed by the thief who recently disposed of a stolen horse to Tarrant & Kemmerer. Soon after he reached the city the man called on Postmaster Kenyon and unfolded a sad story, asking food for man and beast and shoes for the beast. Mr. Kenyon was greatly moved by the tale of suffering and assisted the man, sending him to the expense of the county. The police believe that the man pulled the shoes off the animal's feet in order that he might make less noise in travelling.

The evening was devoted to progressive chess, the first prizes being carried off by Clara Kingman and Andrew Kolb and the consolation awards by Agnes Smith and Emmett Roberts. Light refreshments were served during the evening and before their departure the guests presented their host with a handsome fountain pen.

For the first time in eleven years the Lehigh Valley Railroad company has declared a dividend on its stock. The board of directors, at a meeting held in Philadelphia ordered a payment of 10 per cent on the preferred stock and 1 per cent on the common. The dividend on the common is semi-annual, while the 10 per cent on the preferred is annual.

INCREASED PAY TO RURAL MAIL MEN

New Law Goes Into Effect on Monday Next—Men Are Very Grateful.

Friday morning the rural mail carriers out of Janesville will begin their labors under a new and increased per schedule, and each of the seven men delivering mail to the farmers from this postoffice will be under the new rates. July 1 is the date set when the rural mail men throughout the country begin getting larger salaries and the seven who work from the local office are only a drop in the bucket. According to the length of the routes carried the men will receive increased pay and those who have routes twenty-four miles or over will receive the maximum amount, $20 per year. Heretofore the maximum salary has been below this amount and those who have the full routes or those twenty-four miles or over will receive $120 more per year and those whose routes are less will receive proportionately less but still an increase over the old rate.

There are seven routes from the Janesville postoffice and each is what is termed a full route. There are several routes in the country, leaving other than the Janesville postoffices that do not come up to the twenty-four mile limit. The law providing for this increase in salaries was passed at the last session of congress and it is estimated that a half million dollars will be needed to take care of the addition.

BIG RAINFALL IN MONTH OF JUNE

Crops and Garden Produce Greatly Benefited—Monthly Weather Data.

During the present month there was a great rainfall which proved of much benefit to crops and garden products. Aided by frequent hot spells all vegetation progressed well. For several years the strawberry crop was not as large as it is this season. This is remarkable considering the fact that they were delayed in ripening on account of the chilly spring weather. Potatoes, corn and other field products have also progressed wonderfully and the tobacco which has recently been planted is well under way.

The total precipitation for the month, as recorded at Washburn observatory, at Madison, was 2.31 inches as against 1.39 inches during the corresponding month in 1903. The heaviest rainfall was last Friday when .95 inches of water were registered.

June 24 was the hottest day of the month. The thermometer reached the 85 mark and in some parts of the city it went even higher. The lowest temperature prevailed June 7 with the thermometer at 47 degrees. The warmest day in June of last year was the 29th when the maximum temperature registered 84 degrees, or one degree less than on the hottest day of the month this year.

BASEBALL BENEFIT DANCE A SUCCESS

One Hundred Couples Made Merry at Assembly Hall Last Evening—Goodly Sum Realized.

There was a gratifying response to the invitations to attend the benefit dance given at Assembly hall last evening for the purpose of raising funds to buy uniforms for the Janesville baseball team. Nearly one hundred couples were present. Smith & Kneff's orchestra furnished the music and the last waltz was not sounded until after one o'clock. VERDICT OF THE PARTY
The republican national convention in session June 22, 1904, adopted by unanimous vote, the following sentiment, contained in the report of the committee on credentials, and offered by said committee after a thorough investigation of the Wisconsin contest:
"Your committee report it to be their final judgment and unanimous decision that the convention which elected John C. Spooner, Joseph V. Quarles, Joseph W. Babcock and Emil Baensch, as delegates-at-large, together with their alternates, was the regular convention of the republican party in Wisconsin."
This is the highest authority in the party, and the decision ought to satisfy every loyal republican in the state.

BOYCOTTING A NEWSPAPER.

Colorado is indeed entitled to public sympathy. She has suffered greatly during the past year and a half, says the Wall Street Journal. She has lost heavily in human life, in property, in income, and it may be added, somewhat in reputation. Organized labor has endeavored to crush non-union labor and establish a monopoly. Organized capital has attempted to drive out an organization of labor. Lawlessness has prevailed. Strikes have been followed by violence. Murder has been committed. Martial law has been proclaimed. The writ of habeas corpus has been suspended. That this state of things has been succeeded by the boycott of a newspaper by an association of advertisers in the city of Denver because it criticized the acts of the state authorities in connection with the labor trouble, is not surprising. It is of the nature of wrong and injustice that it proceeds from one extreme to another, and from one class in the community to all. Wrong and injustice by a labor organization leads to wrong and injustice by organized employers. Lawlessness on the part of strikers is succeeded by lawlessness on the part of civil authorities, and public opinion becomes so inflamed and perverted that an association of merchants is led into the wrong and injustice of attempting to control the policy of a newspaper through the method of a boycott.

As to the controversy between The Rocky Mountain News, of Denver, and the Citizens' Alliance, of Colorado, we have nothing to do. Least of all is it our intention to defend The Rocky Mountain News. It is not unlikely that it has offended greatly, both in its editorial pages and in its presentation of news. There may be many reasons why, on general principles, the citizens of Denver should be displeased with its policy. But that has nothing to do with the issue at stake. This issue is that of the employment of what is practically a boycott to force the newspaper to follow in the path prescribed by its advertisers. An association of merchants in Denver has voted to withdraw its patronage from The Rocky Mountain News, and many merchants have done so. It does not appear that they have done this from purely business consideration. They have not ceased to advertise because advertising did not pay, but because they hoped by withdrawal of their advertising to force the paper to do as they wish. That, in its essence, is absolutely as much a method of coercion as if a labor organization should command its members to refrain from purchasing merchandise from certain merchants because they sold non-union goods.

The boycott is as reprehensible when employed by merchants as when employed by labor unions. There is absolutely no difference in principle and no difference in the results. It is bad altogether. Advertising should be strictly a matter of business. It should be neither an instrument of force nor of favor. It is equally bad for a newspaper to attempt to drive business men to advertise by threats of using its columns to the detriment of their business, and for advertisers to attempt to control the policy of a newspaper by giving or withholding their advertisements. The greatest safeguard for liberty and justice in this country is a free press, and the press cannot be free if controlled by its advertising columns or by financial interests which seek to use it for their own advantage regardless of the public welfare.

Colorado is too great a state to remain long under her present cloud. Order, justice and liberty will be fully restored, and when the passions aroused by the recent labor war have subsided, we have no doubt that her enlightened citizenship will see as plainly as now appears to those far removed from the scene of the contest, that both the lawlessness of strikers and the suspension of law by civil and military authorities, both boycotting by labor and coercion by capital are odious to the American spirit.

FISCAL PERIOD.
An interesting picture of conditions in Japan is afforded by a communication from the Japanese manager of the Eikoku Shogyo Zasshi, published at Tokyo, recently received by the department of commerce and labor through its bureau of statistics. The communication, which appears in the May number of the British Trade Journal, indicates that commercial and financial conditions have not as yet been seriously affected by the Russo-Japanese war, and this statement is verified, so far as relates to commerce with the United States, by the official figures showing the trade of the United States with Japan during the present year as compared with earlier periods.

Commenting upon trade and financial conditions in the Japanese Empire, the writer above referred to says:
When the Russo-Japanese negotiations were broken off and the hostilities were opened between these two powers, we feared that a great panic would occur in our economic world and our commerce and industry would be upset to a large extent, the whole energy of the people being concentrated on the war. But this turned out to be a false fear. The war does not so much affect our trade as we expected; transactions are done very smoothly; stocks which suffered from a fall for a short time have risen again to their prices, and factories enjoy their usual profit. Nor does it make our people so greatly excited as you may think, though we Japanese pride ourselves on being the most patriotic nation on earth. At home, our conversations are as merry and innocent as ever, and in the street we see nothing warlike except noisy newsboys delivering special of happy tidings in the form of our brilliant victories both on land and sea. Business men and laborers are calmly attending to their own tasks, and there is no excitement among them. In fact, our people seem to rightly understand that it is an important duty on their part, especially at this juncture, to apply themselves to their business with as much assiduity as their soldiers do to battles. Such being the state of things in Japan, however long the war may last her commerce and industry will not be much affected by it; nay, they will continue the progress they have been used to make during these past decades.

The above statement is especially interesting in view of the fact that Japan's commerce with the United States in the present fiscal year shows a marked advance over that of any preceding year, and for the twelve months ending June 30, 1904, will probably exceed 70 million dollars. Figures covering eleven months of the present fiscal year have just been issued by the Department of Commerce and Labor through its Bureau of Statistics. They show that our exports to Japan amounted to $22,594,713 during the eleven months of this year, as against $19,854,343 in the corresponding months of the preceding fiscal year; also that our imports from Japan touched their highest point for an eleven months' period, being $44,367,461, as against $41,833,351 in the eleven months of 1903, the previous high-water mark.

Exports to Japan from the United States reached their highest point in the fiscal year 1900, when the total was $29,087,475, due in a large measure to the extraordinary purchases of cotton by Japan in that year. In the following year, however, there was a drop of fully 10 million in the volume of our exports to Japan, though an upward tendency is again apparent, and for the eleven months ending May 31, 1904, the total is, as already stated, $22,594,713, and for the full year will be about 24 million dollars. Since the year 1900 Japan has greatly reduced her importations of cotton from the United States, owing to the high prices, and has increased her importation of lower-priced cotton from India. In the eleven months ending with May, 1904, Japan imported 161 1/2 million pounds of American cotton, valued at 12 2/3 million dollars; and in the present fiscal year to date she has taken less than 24 million pounds of American cotton, valued at less than 3 million dollars.

Flour, refined mineral oils, cotton, paper and its products, paraffin and paraffin wax, electrical machinery, locomotives, sole leather, and unmanufactured tobacco form the major portion of our exports to Japan, and in all of these, except cotton and paper, there is a substantial increase over last year's exports.

PRESS COMMENT

Madison Journal: However much criticism there may be of the authorities in Colorado, it must be admitted that they have at least curbed violence and brought order out of chaos.

Sturgeon Bay Advocate: La Follette says he will go to the people for vindication. That's right, Bob. They'll "vindicate" you if they all feel the way they do up in this neck of land.

Superior Telegram: In the modern days of education, intelligence and exalted aspirations the young ladies are not vainly trying to acquire anything in male attire.

Menasha Record: The worst feature about such sad disasters as that in New York harbor is that while they are supposed to teach lessons in precaution, but by the time the next comes they are found to have taught nothing.

Buffalo Express: The battleship squadron which is going into Turkish waters will not be a naval demonstration. It will merely give the sultan a little visual evidence of the kind of naval demonstration the United States could make, if necessary.

Chicago Record-Herald: Dawie was lashed in New York for scolding King Edward. People may go to New York and slander Chicago and be cheered for it, but they mustn't expect New York to calmly permit them to say uncomplimentary things about the king.

Chicago Tribune: Breathes there the man with soul so dead as to be indifferent to the fact that 466 persons were killed and 3,983 other persons injured in "celebrating" the fourth of July last year?

Racine News: Mark Twain says it has been a dear wish of his to exhibit himself at the St. Louis fair and get a prize. Since the emperor of wit cannot come himself, he will do as the Empress of China has done, send his portrait.

Marion Advertiser: You can bet all your loose change that the republican party, both national and state, will be in evidence as usual next November. Roosevelt will be the president of the United States and Hon. S. A. Cook, of Neenah, will be governor of Wisconsin.

Wisdom in Family Life

The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York is constantly demonstrating its ability and experience in advising business men concerning money matters in the home.

For instance,

The late Archibald N. Waterhouse, of Philadelphia, who died suddenly last Friday, held policies amounting to $8,000 in the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York. The terms of insurance under which these policies were issued were so selected that his widow will receive at once $2,000 in cash and an annual income of $500 for twenty years, and if she is living at the end of that period she will receive $6,000 in cash, making the total amount received under these policies $14,000 on which the premiums paid by Mr. Waterhouse amounted to only $27,472.20. (From the Philadelphia Record, Nov. 13, 1903.)

Antigo Republican: But soft!

The end is not yet. While we do not care to make accusations against the integrity of the national committee, still we do reserve the right to claim that they did not fully understand the Wisconsin situation. REV. IRA HICKS PREDICTS DROUTH

UNLESS JULY IS RAINY, REST OF SUMMER WILL BE DRY.

THE FOURTH WILL BE HOT DAY

Venus and Mercury Will Be Evening, and Mars the Morning Star.

"This month comes in at the close of the last June storm period, with disturbances disappearing in eastern extremes, and change to fair and cooler following from the west." This is the general forecast for the month of July, given by the Reverend Ira Hicks. He divides the month into five storm periods, two regular and three reactionary.

The first storm period is reactionary, being central on the 4th, 5th, and 6th. The moon in apogee, on the equator, at last quarter and the volcanic reaction are the disturbing causes. There may be expected a rapid and decided rise of the thermometer on or before "the Fourth," with falling barometer and other indications of storms. Threatening clouds and marked thunderstorms, passing southward are the predictions on the program for the 4th, 5th, and 6th. The moon's passage over celestial equator on the fourth will tend to produce lightning and thunder, thus adding celestial pyrotechnics to the earthly fireworks. A rise in the barometer and cooler winds will follow. This and all other July periods will be marked with much bluster and numerous black clouds.

The second storm period, regular, extends from the 9th to the 14th. The Mars period and the new moon and moon in perigee are responsible for these disturbances. The nature of the weather will mark the whole Mars period which lasts about eight weeks. The extreme opposites will exist in different extremes of the continent during the summer and whatever kind of weather is experienced at this period may be expected till the end of August. If the period is dry or little rain falls the chances for an extended drought are good, otherwise rainy. The temperature will be warmer and barometer lower. A decided shortage of rain is predicted for all parts of the country except the central and southern states.

On the 17th, 18th and 19th the third storm period, reactionary, is central. The disturbing causes are Vulcan reactionary, Mars influence and the moon on the equator, at first quarter. The temperature will be much higher, with low barometer. There will be blustering storms with little rain generally and cloud bursts in limited areas. The elements will swing back into higher barometer, cooler and fair. These will be progressive eastward.

But for the Mars period, storm producing causes would be at a minimum during the fourth period which centers on the 21st to 24th. The center of the Mars period, the Vulcan equinox and the moon at the extreme south declination are sufficient causes to produce marked results. The weather will be decidedly warmer, the barometer will fluctuate and many black, ominous clouds will cover the sky. Little rain will fall and tornadoes may be expected if the barometer is low, the air is humid, the temperature is high and there are sultry south winds.

The last storm period in July, central on the 27th, 28th and 29th, is due to the Vulcan reactionary, the full moon, the Mercury equinox, and Mars disturbance at its center. Heavier and more general rains may be expected. There are also rattling thunder storms and cloudiness predicted.

The Planets.
Mercury and Venus now rise into the evening, western sky and Mars appears on the morning horizon. At eight o'clock on Independence day the earth is in Apogee, or at its greatest distance from the sun. Despite the fact that it will be hot that day and was exceedingly cold the 2nd of last January, the earth will be 3,120,000 miles farther from the sun than it was at that time. Last winter the rays of the sun struck our portion of the earth obliquely while now they hit us with perpendicular drop. If the north end of the world not only gives up its winter accumulations of ice and cold and moisture, but actually warms, while passing under higher sun from April to July, it need not be a matter of surprise that our stock of heat should be augmented while the sun is passing back over the same track from July to September. Venus will become evening star the 8th and Mercury the 9th. Mercury will be in perihelion the 4th and Venus the 22nd.

NARROW ESCAPE OF MRS GILMORE

She Was Almost Overcome by Gas
at Her Home on Jackson Street Last Evening.

Awakened from a stupor produced by escaping gas Mrs. John Gilmore, who resides at 305 South Jackson street, staggered to the door late yesterday afternoon and opened it to admit Mrs. Fred Connors, a neighbor who had come to call. Mrs. Gilmore had barely strength left to do this and fell at her guest's feet. Physicians were called and the lady was soon pronounced out of danger and later in the evening was able to be up and about the house. It is not quite clear how the gas came to escape but the opinion is that in moving some furniture preparatory to packing the household goods for removal to Chicago several gas jets were accidentally turned on and Mrs. Gilmore was overcome before she realized it. Had it not been for her caller arriving just as she did she might have died.

The annual meeting of stockholders of the New Gas Light company of Janesville, for the election of directors and the transaction of such other business as may come before it, will be held at the company's office in Janesville, Wisconsin, on Monday, July 4, 1904, at 3 o'clock p. m.

LOUISE MERRILL, Secretary.

RIVER TOO LOW FOR THE LOCKS

PLAN OF THE LAUNCH OWNERS IS ABANDONED.

CANNOT REACH THE DAM

River Is Too Shallow for the Boats to Steam Near Enough to Use Proposed Lock.

For the present the proposition to establish a lock at Indian Ford has been dropped. At the meeting of the boat club last evening at F. P. Plerson's store it was shown that a lock was impracticable as a launch could not approach near enough to the dam during the season of low water and this is the season when nearly all the pleasure rides are taken.

Channel Talked

The first plan was to make some kind of a channel from the water that is navigable to small craft to the dam but a greater outlay was found necessary than at first figured on.

The Local Club

The boat club is composed of every person who owns a launch on the river. The officers are: A. C. Kent, president and J. C. Harlow secretary. Those who own launches are: A. C. Kent, L. L. Lellingwell, H. E. Ransom and George Harrington, Rock Co. Mineral Water Co., Emery Parks, Walter Helms and C. V. Kerch, W. H. Merritt, Tracy Brown, J. C. Harlow, C. C. Messer, Dr. Dudley, Walter Morrison, F. P. Plerson, George McKey, Edson Williams, F. R. Baldwin, C. C. Seales, Charles Graves, Charles Stone and Mr. Kenyon and Frank Woods.

New Boats

A. C. Kent has installed a double cylinder engine in his new launch. This is the only motive power of its kind on the river. The only steel launch is the one belonging to Walter Helms and C. V. Kerch. Claude Messer's boat is the fastest, and the one belonging to C. C. Seales is also very speedy.

Nothing was mentioned at the meeting of a launch parade for the fourth, and this undoubtedly robs the celebration of a very novel and interesting feature.

TROLLEY LINE ALL WAY TO CHICAGO

Elgin-Belvidere Gap to Be Closed Up
This Summer—Capital
Is Ready.

John M. Roach, manager of the Union Traction company of Chicago, accompanied by Marshall E. Sampell, one of the receivers, announced while in Belvidere last week that plans have been perfected for the construction of an electric line from Belvidere to Elgin, a distance of 35 miles. This will supply the missing link for a complete electric system from Janesville to Chicago. The line from Belvidere to Rockford and Freeport is now in operation and there is a third rail system from Elgin to Chicago. Mr. Roach went to Belvidere to consult with Congressman Fuller, who is a stockholder in the new company.

After the conference a statement was made that the money has all been subscribed to construct the road, the capital coming from Chicago and the east. The building of the road is an assured fact and it is to be in operation before next winter. The company will purchase private right of way to avoid restrictions against speed.

The Belvidere City railway, now owned by Mr. Roach, will become a part of the system and this will allow the company to get through Belvidere without heavy cost. The new road is to run from Belvidere to Camp Elgin, the camp meeting grounds at the Rock river district Methodistists. It will then proceed to Marengo and to Elgin by the way of Huntley.

From Marengo a branch will be built to Harvard to connect with the line which runs to Delavan and Geneva lakes. The distance from Belvidere to Elgin is thirty-six miles. Mr. Roach is in an advantageous position to build the line from his connection with the railway in Belvidere. To Chicago by trolley will be a reality before another year has passed if Mr. Roach is able to carry out his plans and they seem to be complete.

CURRENT NEWS/NOTES

Under Threshing Machine: From his soft couch under an old threshing machine in Taylor's coal yard Tom Connors was rudely dragged by Officer Beneke during the rainstorm this morning and taken to the lock-up. He had broken his pledge again.

Opened Coal Bids: The purchasing agency consisting of Henry Ebbott of Edgerton, R. W. Cheever of Clinton, and County Clerk Starr, met today and opened the bids or furnishing coal for the jail and the courthouse. The lowest bidder had not signed his bond in the proper manner and the committee had been arguing the matter for about an hour at three o'clock this afternoon without reaching any conclusion.

Judgments Rendered: In Justice Earle's court today the following judgments were rendered: $13.21 for later vs. Ernest Schumacher; $55 and costs in the case of Mary Dorn vs. Marguerite Coleman; $30 and costs in the action of the Schlitz Brewing Co. vs. Marguerite Coleman. The defendant in the last two cases is not in the city but some furniture stored here has been attached.

Carload a Week: Game Warden Dratfahl was a Janesville visitor this morning. He says that there has been little or no illegal fishing within the past few weeks. The work of removing the carp at Lake Koshkonong is being conducted with much energy and about a carload a week is being shipped out.

Charles Knudson of this city is visiting friends near Madison.

William Canary of Footville transacted business in the city today.

BELOIT GIRL IS TO GO TO AFRICA

Miss Nina Olds To Become a Missionary to the Dark Continent.

Miss Nina D. Olds, who graduated from Beloit college with this year's class, will join the company of missionaries sent out by her family, and it is understood will go to South Africa some time next year.

It is no secret among the friends of Miss Olds that this is her plan for the future. It is understood that she is to be married to a young man from Minneapolis, who is prominent in Y. M. C. A. work at present, but who has aspirations to enter the missionary field. The arrangements have been partly made to cross the seas this summer, but the missionary board decided that they could not send the young people until 1905.

In taking this step Miss Olds will only be following the tendency to this kind of work that has already been apparent in her family. Charles H. Olds, who graduated from Beloit in 1896, is doing good work in the foreign field at Miyazaki, Japan, and Otis C. Olds of the class of '86 is located at Parial, Mexico, doing work of a similar character. Miss Bessie M. Olds, also of the class of 1904, has gone to Mexico to spend a year with her brother.

Another member of the family who has chosen labor in a land across the water is Mrs. Alice Olds-Teall of the class of 1900. Although she is not engaged in purely religious work she is teaching in Manila, an occupation that may almost be called missionary. That so many members of one family should choose foreign fields of labor is a remarkable fact, indicating that it is a family characteristic.

The services commence this evening and last through Sunday. Dr. W. O. Carrier who has spoken in Janesville several times during the last year will deliver an address this evening. Saturday morning Mrs. A. J. Hutton will speak on "Our Responsibility as Young People."

On the evening of the same day Senator J. M. Whitehead will address the convention on "Christian Citizenship." Von Ogden Vogt an old Beloit boy well known here will also figure prominently, delivering several addresses.

MUCH MONEY WAS COUNTED SUNDAY

Twenty-Two Thousand Fares Paid
on the Rockford Street Car Service.

One of the big days for the Janesville-Beloit Rockford Interurban railway company was last Sunday and when the auditor got through figuring up yesterday the results showed the day was well up near the top of the list. The number of cash fares returned to the office for the day was a few over 22,000, and when this is taken into consideration it means an unusually large amount of business. Many of the fares were from the east and southeast end and the car loads which passed through the business streets of Rockford to Harlem park and rode on transfers from the other lines. Superintendent Ellis was much pleased with the business of Sunday and as he looked over the reports yesterday expressed a desire that the business continue at that stage. To handle more people would be an easy matter for the company, but that is a satisfactory amount.

EXAMINATION INTO ALLEGED HOLD-UP

John Atkinson Was Brought Into
Municipal Court This Morning
To Hear Evidence Against Him.

In municipal court this morning was commenced the examination of John Atkinson charged with an attempt to hold up Fanny Burke near the Grand Hotel last week Wednesday evening. Mr. Burke testified to the demand for money and the attack made on him on the evening in question and Thomas Casey who resides at 206 Cherry street corroborated his statements regarding the time and place of the meeting and the identity of the man who accosted Burke. He said that he heard Burke tell Atkinson that he was just as fast as he was and said that the former tried to convince the latter that he ought to accompany him to the front of the hotel. After they separated he said that Atkinson walked down High st. turned onto Dodge street and started on the run. The defense introduced no witnesses and J. J. Cunningham representing Atkinson asked additional time. The examination was continued until Thursday morning, July 7, at ten o'clock.

CHAPTER XIII.

THE STORM ON THE CASPIAN.

TWO days and two nights they continued thus, traveling constantly. Two of the men did the pulling while the third man slept. At times, under the cover of favoring darkness, Harvey would emerge from his hiding place, and while Alma kept watch for pursuing Russians, Harvey would take to give one of the hardworking Astrakhanians a rest. On the third day they saw a boat overhailing them.

"We must keep well under cover till that boat has passed us," said Harvey. "What do you make it out to be, Charika?"

It was a long, low vessel, without masts, with high bow and stern. It was propelled by four rowers, two on each side, and a fifth man sat in the stern with a paddle to steer.

"We have nothing to fear from that," said Charika. "That is a Turkish cayik. Some rich merchant perhaps from Constantinople has brought his pleasure boat all the way to the fair. Think of carrying a boat across land!"

"That may be so or not," said Harvey. "A boat might be built at Tiflis after the Turkish model. It is safer for us to be out of sight."

The long boat came on rapidly, and Harvey and Alma again crawled under the hay.

Charika grumbled enviously as he saw the four rowers bending to their task. The Turkish cayik seemed more anxious to avoid the hayboat than Charika was to avoid the cayik. It steered to the opposite side of the river, the efforts of the rowers were doubled, and at a burst of speed it went by.

At night they were within sight of the village of Salain. Though it was a dark night, Charika, who had the lives of his passengers in mind, forbade them coming from under the hay. "The steambot of the Muscovites has not yet returned up the river," he said. "It is lying at Salain to watch the boats that go out upon the Caspian."

This was too much for the inquisitiveness of Harvey. He crawled to the edge of the hay to observe what was going on.

"Charika," he said, "that Turkish boat is up to something. I notice the Russian is going to intercept it. There's business of some kind going on. Get nearer, that we may hear the conversation."

As they came opposite the lights of the town they saw the Russian boat shoot out from the land and in the radius of the strong electric light in her bow saw the cayik evidently trying to escape.

"They are after the Turk! We are in for it, too!" wailed Charika. "Keep a cool head, Charika," said Harvey. "Remember, a precious life depends upon your shrewdness."

"I know."

"Stop where you are!" came a voice from the Russian. "We will inspect you."

Knowing the uselessness of refusing, Charika made his way toward the launch, which had now steamed up alongside the cayik.

"It is true, most excellent sir," a Turkish voice from the cayik was saying. "I am an Osmanli. It is also true that I am Halik Effendi, who once acted as merchant in those goods the men of Georgia and Circassia had to sell. I stole nothing, but when a father wished to place his beautiful daughter in the house of a wealthy prince I carried on the negotiations. But that is all done. Even the other day a girl was stolen, but it was an American, not an Osmanli, who stole her."

"Yes, and we want that American now!" growled the officer in command. "What have you in those sacks?"

"Nothing, excellent sir, but some of the goods I took to the fair and which I did not sell. I shall return to Astrabad and thence to Constantinople by way of the caravan."

"Go on," said the officer, and the cayik shot away.

"Now, you," said the officer to Charika. "Hello! It is that slow old hayboat. Well, my friend, where are you going?"

"I, too, my master, am going to Astrabad," said Charika. "Does every one who goes to the fair at Tiflis go from there to Astrabad?"

"Not all, excellent captain; but at Astrabad there are many caravans gathering, and I can sell my hay. The camels need it. To ascend the Volga to the big fair at Nijni Novgorod would take too long."

"Go on. There will be a fine mingling of races at Astrabad."

"No finer than at Tiflis," said Charika as the hayboat slowly drew away. "The seam of the earth and the cream were at Tiflis."

The launch turned back to the wharf where it had been lying.

Charika felt that he was safe, and as there was a slight breeze he raised his sail. He had but one thing more to fear, he reasoned, and that was a Russian gunboat. Boatloads of hay were not infrequent on the Caspian, and he felt assured that it would not be difficult to load with the captain of the gunboat.

Under sail the boat made better progress and was soon out on the Caspian, where in the hazy darkness nothing could be seen. The slight wind that had promised so well soon died away, and the boat, now in deep water where the poles were useless, was almost helpless. Its big lateen sails flapped against the rude masts, and the men grumbled. This was not getting to Astrabad, and they had had enough of watching over the lives of a Muscovite woman and a man from what they considered another world. The boat got into a current that carried it out farther and farther, and Harvey, feeling secure in the darkness, called to Alma to come out from her hiding place. They sat together in the little deck-house waiting for the breeze that must surely come sooner or later.

"By this time they are well in pursuit," said Alma, with a shudder. "It is death to be taken now."

"It would have been death at any time, my darling. We must be cheerful. I wish you had a cayik instead of this old hayboat."

"The cayik is faster, dear M. Irons, but would it be as safe? I fear that a storm is coming. In that little boat I would be afraid."

"I'd take my chances in that as soon as in this old hulk, and there would be the additional advantage of getting somewhere before the storm came."

"Ah, M. Irons, it is a long way across the Caspian."

"I am aware of that, Alma. I've been long enough trying to make the trip. Even now I am a good many days from my windmills."

"I fear you will never see them again, dear M. Irons."

"Not see my windmills again? Why, I'll sell them at the big fair at Nijni Novgorod. Surest thing in the world, my darling. We'll take our wedding trip out of my commissions. But don't call me M. Irons. Call me Harvey. That is my name, as yours is Alma."

"But we do not—it is not like Russian girls."

"You are a Russian girl no longer, dear. As soon as we get to a place where there is an American missionary who can perform the ceremony, or an American consulate, you will be my American wife, and the Russian guns can thunder all they please. Hello! What's up now?"

Suddenly the delayed wind had come in squalls. It whistled through the ropes, and one snipped. Charika could be heard outside cursing and bawling out orders to his men. Harvey went to the door and tried to see in the darkness. The boat began to move rapidly through the water and careened to one side. A flash of lightning showed him the three men hard at work trying to control the sails.

"The storm you feared has come, little girl, but do not be afraid. I'll go outside and see what I can do to help."

"Can I be of use?" he asked, raising his voice to a shout.

"What! Yes, you can be of use!" bawled Charika. "Help me and my men!"

Charika's voice showed his agitation. His men were working like heavers to unloose the rope that had parted. Harvey assisted, and soon the sail was bellying out before the steadily growing wind.

"Now!" cried Charika exultingly as the old boat gathered speed. "Now the Turk's cayik would not be so fast!"

But his jubilation came too soon. A sudden gust of wind tore the rope he was holding from his hand, and one that had been fastened to a pin at the side of the boat snapped with a report like that of a pistol. It cracked two or three times in the air and then wound itself around Charika's neck. A smooth-curved curse came from him as he struggled with the rope. As Harvey stepped forward to assist him the sail gave an extra pull, and Charika was dragged over the side of the boat into the sea. A cry came from him as he sank, and his men muttered their prayers as they stood shivering, realizing the uselessness of trying to aid him.

"Don't stand there like idiots!" shouted Harvey. "You've got a small boat. Get it into the water and save Charika!"

"It cannot be done!" cried one. "He is already left far behind."

"Get out the boat, and I will go with you to rescue him."

"No, not you! You are the one who brought this upon us. Many times have we sailed upon the Caspian, but never before did this thing happen to us. It serves us right for taking an unbeliever and a Muscovite woman on the boat. That was our curse."

"Nonsense! Get out the boat."

The two consulted a moment, speaking so low that Harvey could not hear.

"We will go to rescue Charika," said the one who had done the talking. "But you cannot go. You would bring us another curse."

Harvey went into the cabin to get a lantern. With the aid of this he watched the two men get the small boat off.

"Look well for him. He was a good man," said Harvey.

"He was," came the answer as the boat moved off. "We shall not return. We will not remain on a boat with that Muscovite woman and an unbeliever."

Harvey stood aghast. Alone he could not handle the sails. He shouted to them to come back, but they paid no attention to him. He returned to Alma.

"The fools have left us! Charika was thrown overboard by a broken rope, and I told them to go in the small boat to rescue them. They took the boat, preferring that in the storm to remaining on this boat with us. They say, my darling, we have brought a curse upon them."

The wind howled. The boat shivered as it was driven along at increasing speed. The timbers, surely would not

BANK CASHIER

SHORT $90,025

LOSES MONEY IN STEEL STOCK

Says He First Began to Speculate to Recover Losses in Colorado Land and Then Kept It Up to Pay Debt That Followed Venture.

Aurora, Ill., June 30.—The sensational slump of United States Steel corporation stock wiped away almost the last dollar of $90,025 which was embezzled from the German-American National bank of this city by Jacob H. Platin, the bank's cashier. Other speculation started, Platin on his career of defalcation, but it was steel that proved his ruin. Platin was arrested nearly a month ago, but the defalcation did not become known to the public until Wednesday, the officials of the bank keeping the arrest secret until they could prepare for a run. It is hoped that there will be no flurry, however, as the bank is said to be solvent.

Father and Brother to Rescue. The father and brother of the defalcating cashier say that for the honor of the family name they will make good every dollar of the loss. Already John Platin, the father, and M. E. Platin, the brother, have made up $30,000 of the amount embezzled, and the cashier has turned over property worth $8,000 toward repaying the defalcation.

Cashier Platin was arrested June 9 by United States Marshal Ames after the discovery by C. H. Bosworth, national bank examiner, that he was short in his accounts. He was taken before United States Commissioner Mark A. Foote in Chicago, and under waiver of examination was held to the July term of the federal grand jury under bonds of $10,000. The bonds were furnished by Platin's brother and Peter Klein and Edward M. Trask.

Announcement by Bank. Wednesday after banking hours the bank officers made a public statement, as follows:

"To the Patrons of the German-American National Bank: We, the directors of the German-American National bank, desire to make the following statement: Through the personal speculations of our former cashier, J. H. Platin, there has been a loss of $90,025, which amount he misappropriated from the funds of the bank. Thirty thousand dollars of this amount has been made up by John Platin, his father, and M. E. Platin, his brother, and $8,000 of the property turned over by the defaulter. The balance of the loss has been charged off from the surplus and undivided profits, leaving the entire $100,000 capital stock of the bank unimpaired."

The statement was signed by John Platin, H. H. Evans, M. E. Platin, J. O. Mason, Peter Klein, E. W. Trask, Nicholas Hermes, S. D. Seamans, C. Abel, J. L. Holden and G. A. Fauth.

Cashier Shoulders Blame. In speaking of his defalcations former Cashier Platin said:

"I alone am to blame in this matter. I have often read of defalcations and embezzlements and wondered how men could do such things. I do not wonder any longer. The passion to become rich quickly seized me, and I fell. I am not going to evade anything; for six months I have spent sleepless nights over this thing, and I trust to rest easy now that I have made a full confession."

"On May 21 C. H. Bosworth, a national bank examiner, told me he had discovered some discrepancies in my accounts. I admitted being $40,000 short and told him there was more. I had some legitimate investments, in real estate and other lines, but my investment in United States Steel stock finished me. I bought at 40 and sold at 11. How much did I lose in United States Steel? Oh, about $30,000, maybe; I am not sure."

Speculates to Cover Losses. "I started speculating to cover my losses in Colorado investments. About ten years ago I was out there and bought grazing and agricultural land that proved a loss on my hands. Then I began speculating to make money to pay my debts. I never cared for money except to pay my debts. The gambling spirit does not appeal to me; I never bet on a horse race or indulged in any other form of ordinary gambling in my life."

Platin's salary as cashier is said to have been $1,800 a year. He had been in the bank since its start fourteen years ago. Both the former cashier and M. E. Platin, his brother, were born in Aurora and enjoyed the confidence of the business men of the city. Their father, John Platin, started the bank, and is president of it. Since the discovery of the defalcation M. E. Platin has acted as cashier. A run on the bank has been anticipated by the directors, notwithstanding their statements and their personal assurances that all obligations would be met promptly.

Prepare for a Run. "The bank," said M. E. Platin, "has $200,000 cash on hand with which to meet demands, and we probably could raise another $200,000 in two or three days if necessary. The deposits amount to $500,000. All our loans are on local commercial paper of a high class, and we own about $50,000 in local bonds. Assurances of confidence have been given us by other Aurora bankers, and they will stand by us if there is any need. My father and myself have determined that this stain upon our family name shall be erased, and we will give every dollar we own, if need be, to that end."

Former Cashier Platin will be prosecuted, according to the bank officers. He is living in Aurora with his family, under indictment and awaiting trial. He has been popular in the city of his birth, and at one time was colonel of the third brigade of the state militia. The Aurora opera house is managed by him.

M. E. Platin, now serving as cashier, is a Jeweler, with stores in Aurora, Galesburg and Quincy.

PROSECUTION IS SURE.

"We have no doubt," said H. H. Evans, vice-president of the bank and state senator, "that Platin was a rascal in many ways. He will be prosecuted, without any question. Even when his defalcation was discovered the extent of it did not appear until we dug into the matter; then it grew larger and larger. The loss to the bank at present is about $40,000, but the reserve more than covers this."

According to stories that Col. Platin is said to have told officers of the bank, he lost $18,000 in Northern Pacific and $10,000 in the Gates corn deal.

The stock of the bank has been worth from 140 to 150 more than the par value of 100. Leading depositors have expressed confidence in the bank's stability.

"I have $6,000 of town funds in the bank," said John Jameson, supervisor of Kane county, "but I am confident that the money is safe."

NATURE'S OWN REMEDY.

When the mountaineer becomes afflicted with any of the numerous ailments, he does not waste much time but goes directly to the woods for Nature's own remedies.

Yarrow, which dried is a standby for Coughs when it has been made into a wicker looking brew. Fir-balsam, coaxed drop by drop from the blisters which swell on the balsam at full noon is a sovereign remedy for Chest and Lung Complaints. Sunflower-seeds steeped, strained and sweetened with molasses will cure the Whooping Cough. Horse-radish leaves, wilted, bruised, and bound on the face and back of the neck, will drive away Neuralgia. And a Nutmeg braid tied around the neck, will keep it away—at least, so say many mountaineers. Onions, sliced, pounded and placed in a cloth and laid over the affected part, will draw out inflammation. A red Onion halved and one part slightly scooped out and the cup placed over a Carbuncle or Boil will speedily remove the pus.

There are many of these similar remedies in Nature's laboratory located in the woods and along the highways, but they cannot be had at all times and few people know how to distinguish the different medicinal herbs from those that are poisonous and dangerous. To buy all of them from your druggist would require a great outlay of money. All the curative powers of the foregoing are combined in the new discovery—

Talk About Pitchers

Walter Clarkson, the Harvard "Phenom,"
Who Will Enter American League—His Notable Record—Wicker, Chicago Nationals.

Walter Clarkson of Harvard, Mike Lynch of Brown university and Crowley of Georgetown university are the latest college recruits in the professional baseball ranks.

Clarkson has been one of the most talked of ball players in the country of late, owing to his signing to play with the New York American league team.

WALTER CLARKSON, THE HARVARD TWIRLER

Clarkson has demonstrated that he is the equal of his famous brother in the box, and the nongame have had their eyes on him for some time. His brother, John Clarkson, joined the Chicago National league team at the close of and not once during that time has he failed to win the great championship series with Yale. This is a record which has never been beaten either by a Harvard twirler or by a twirler on any other member of the Big Four. Merely to play one season on a championship team is esteemed by all college athletes one of the highest honors, but to constitute more than half the winning strength of a nine, as Clarkson has done for the last four years, is something unparalleled in baseball history.

Clarkson prepared for Harvard at the Cambridge Latin school, where he early gave promise of that exceptional ability which later was to distinguish him on the crimson line. In the intercollegiate world, then, as in the intercollegiate world today, he was considered the star of stars, and when he entered Harvard in the fall of 1900 great things were prophesied concerning him.

Besides being a wonderful twirler, Clarkson is a heavy hitter and a ground covering fielder of exceptional ability as well. When he doesn't pitch, he always plays center field, and scarcely an undergraduate can recall his making an error in either place.

For a light and slender man he wields an unusually ponderous and heavy bat, but he always manages to get it around in time. He is one of the heaviest hitters on the team and cracks out two baggers and triples frequently.

The Harvard boxman is a very heavy player and handles himself with grace and never seems to be fazed by any circumstances into which he may happen to be thrown.

Several I.-I.-I. (Iowa, Indiana, Illinois) league managers are beginning to realize that, just as the Three I. ball was last season, they must do some strengthening if they keep up the pace set by the winning teams this year. Springfield and Cedar Rapids are proving particularly fast. Belden Hill of Cedar Rapids having the best record that has been seen since the circuit was formed. Hill has had the reputation of getting more out of a cheap bunch of men than any other manager, but this year he admits he has spent more money for players, and he is setting a pace hard to follow. Doubtless, at Springfield, has no limit on the money he can spend, and the result is a good team there, though some of his men before the season opened indicated that he might have been gold bricked.

McFarland's Deatur team has not yet hit a gait that will win a fair share of games. Though the pitching staff is good the base running and team work are not of a high order, and the hitting has been erratic. The management goes on the theory that the men will round to us the season advances and is not worrying, and the fans are withholding judgment.

Pitcher Wicker of the Chicago Nationals should receive a large slice of the credit which must be awarded to Seale's Cubs for their brilliant showing in the pennant race.

Wicker performed splendidly last year, and this season he is eclipsing all his other feats. He is almost invincible when in form. Recently he shut out the New York Nationals in a twelve inning game with but a single hit. That is a sensational exploit, to say the least. "Iron Man" McManity

EMPHATIC TALK

The Kind That Carries Conviction to Every Janesville Reader.

Conviction must follow such emphatic proof as is given here. The testimony of Janesville residents should satisfy the most skeptical. Here is a Janesville case. Read it and see if doubt can exist in the face of this evidence.

Mr. B. T. Fish, of 355 Ravine street, proprietor of the Fish Dry Line says: "When I was twenty years of age I fell injuring my back, and ever since that I was troubled more or less with a dull aching pain across the loins. It never laid me up but it was often painful and annoying. Of late years I have gone to a physician every six months and had myself thoroughly examined under the impression that there might be something wrong with my kidneys. The diagnosis always resulting in the physician claiming these organs were sound, but as the pains existed when I happened to notice in our Janesville papers that Doan's Kidney Pills were guaranteed to cure just such troubles I procured a box at the People's Drug store and took them. Doan's Kidney Pills are a good preparation. My back has not ached since I used them. I have heard others speak very complimentary of them and if I did not know their merit and required such a medicine I would consider it a favor if some one suggested their use to me. For this reason I endorse them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

PITCHER WICKER, STAR OF THE CHICAGO NATIONALS.

his college career and made good from the start.

Those who have pitched the younger Clarkson think that he is even a better pitcher than his brother. As a result he has often received offers of big salaries to enter the professional game, and at the start insisted that he intended to drop out of the college at the close of his college career. The Chicago Nationals, the Boston Americans, the New York Americans and the Pittsburgh Nationals offered him large sums. There was a lively contest among the four clubs to see which could make him the most promising position. Finally he agreed to go to New York for $8,000 a year.

For four consecutive seasons Clarkson has twirled for the Cambridge nine, opposed Wicker that day, and the New Yorker was defeated for the first time this season.

Wicker's best curve is an outcrop that is almost impossible to gauge accurately.

"Anybody can learn to line them out," says Clark Griffith. "If he has only a little nerve. The thing is to stand right up to them, no matter how fast they come. The worst fault with batters nowadays is that they back away when the pitcher lets the ball go."

PERFECT PLANS OF CONVENTION

linguists. Two hundred policemen will be on duty outside of the hall to preserve order about the entrance.

The subcommittee on arrangements of the national committee will hold its final meeting at 10 a. m. July 2. There will be nothing for the members to do except to select a temporary chairman for the convention. This will probably be John Sharpe Williams of Mississippi. C. A. Walsh of Iowa will be the temporary secretary, and Col. J. I. Martin of St. Louis, the temporary sergeant-at-arms. Capt. Frank M. Brust has been selected as chief doorkeeper.

The Clerks Chosen
The following will be the reading clerks: C. J. Gavin, of Raton, New Mexico; E. E. Murphy, of Leavenworth, Kas.; W. W. Brandon, of Montgomery, Ala.; J. F. Pollard, of St. Louis and John J. Donovan, of Milwaukee.

A number of notices of contents have been filed with Secretary Walsh. Among them are contents from the 12th (Columbus) district of Ohio; the second district of Maine; the first, second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth districts of Pennsylvania, and from the District of Columbia. Unofficial advices suggest that other contents may be made, but these are all that have been filed so far.

The national democratic committee will meet at 10 a. m. on July 4, to take up these contents and the other preliminary work of the convention.

There is talk of organizing a big parade for the night of July 5, the eve of the convention, in which all the marching clubs that come to the convention, and the military and naval military organizations of the city are to take part, but the movement has not yet taken definite form.

NONSENSE IS NOT MADE SENSIBLE

Methods in Boston of Teaching the Children Mother Goose Rhymes.

It may be possible that in some parts of our country that the good for learning is so great that even our nursery rhymes are filled with corrupted phrases which confuse the mind of the average citizen. As an example of this the Newark News prints the following under the caption Mother Goose in Boston:

Little John Horner,
Sat in a mural intersection,
Masticating Yuletide pastry.
He inserted his collar
And extracted a Prunus Americanus.
Exclaiming, "I am astonishingly precocious!"

perplexing point, and Gray makes no reference to it whatever.

Hey-diddle-diddle!
The folks domesticated and the violin!
The box ruminantaria (fem.) described a personal parabola over two bri of night.
The diminutive canis familiaris was sensibly elated at the humor of the situation.
And the dish eloped with the spoon.

*Manifestly impossible, as are many of the occurrences in these legends.

Ding-dong-bell!
Pussy's in the well.
Who submerged her?
Little John Green.
Who succored her?
Great John Stout.

JANESVILLE IS NOW REPRESENTED

Several Students at Summer School at Madison From This City.

Two Janesville women are enrolled in the summer session of the state university at Madison. Miss Katharine Wiggins, who graduated from the Janesville high school with the class of 1895 and has since been engaged in teaching, is taking the summer school term of six weeks' instruction. Anna H. McNeil, who attended the university the past school year as a graduate student, having previously taken her bachelor's degree, and who was honored at the recent jubilee commencement exercises by having conferred upon her the higher master's degree, is also enrolled, taking advanced courses preparatory to securing, in a year or two hence, the degree of doctor of philosophy, the highest course degree awarded by the university.

The registration in the summer session this year is just 350 and will be increased by perhaps 50 more during the coming week. The attendance is somewhat lessened on account of the world's fair, which is being taken advantage of by a great many teachers and students this summer. The fair offers many educational advantages aside from the marvels that are on exhibition there and the summer courses of colleges and universities all over the country are affected thereby.

MADISON WOMAN ATTEMPTS SUICIDE WITH LAUDANUM

Report Reaches Madison Woman Committed Suicide in Sherman House, Chicago.

Madison, Wis., June 30.—A long-distance telephone message last night announced the suicide at the Sherman house in Chicago of Fanny Robertson, wife of Meyer Robertson, a prominent fruit and grocery dealer of this city as a result of domestic difficulties. A later message said that the woman was not dead but not likely to survive, she having taken a large dose of laudanum. About one year ago the husband for the same alleged cause went down into his cellar and cut his own throat with a razor but made a poor job of it and readily recovered. The family consists of but one adopted daughter named Laura and aged about 16 years and they formerly conducted a similar business in Dubuque, Ia. The woman was seen upon the streets of this city during the forenoon yesterday in apparent good health but took the 1:15 train for the Windy city via Milwaukee. Stronuous efforts were made to prevent the publication of the tragedy and all details leading up to the supposed family quarrel were refused by the husband who stated that the illness of his wife was due in his belief to an attack of nervous prostration.

NEAR 300 DOGS ARE NOW LICENSED

Total This Noon Was 296—The Sad Story of Boy Who Was Between Devil and Deep Sea.

The number of dog licenses issued is now very close to the 300 mark, the total this morning being 296. The enactment of this new ordinance has been attended by pathetic as well as humorous incidents. One day this week Dr. Merritt came upon a small boy dragging a dilapidated canine by a rope along one of the streets in the outskirts of the city. The boy halted the health commissioner eagerly and asked him what the dog license cost, at the same time exhibiting with unconcealed pride a fifty-cent piece which he had earned. When told that the license fee was a dollar the boy's face twitched and he finally broke into loud wails. The doctor tried to comfort him by telling him that he could earn another fifty cents. The attempt proved futile. The boy asked amid his sobs how he was going to earn any more money when he had to stay with the dog all the time to keep the officers from shooting him. If he staid with the dog he would eventually be discovered. Whichever alternative he might adopt he could, foreseen only death for his pet and companion.
